

FRYE, ALFRED

The body of Alfred Frye arrived in Safford from San Francisco last Friday and the funeral was held in the M. E. church on Saturday, Rev. Sigler preaching the funeral sermon. The church was well filled with friends of Mr. Frye and the family and large cortege followed the remains to their last resting place. The pall bearers were E. D. Tuttle, I. E. Solomon, T. T. Hunter, Adolph Solomon, E. T. Ijams and D. W. Wickersham. Mr. Frye left Manila on Feb 2nd on board the Hancock feeling that if he reached home alive he would be satisfied. He wrote a letter to his son that he was coming, telling him of his condition, but the letter came on the same boat with Mr. Frye. He landed in San Francisco on Feb. 5th, but was unable to come any farther. As soon as his son Lambert, learned that his father had arrived, left immediately for San Francisco but arrived about 12 hours after his father had died. Alfred Frey was born in North Haven, Me, on March 2nd, 1839, being 63 years and 1 day old at the time of his death. While a young man he went to California and remained there until 1871 when he went to Utah with his family, landing in Salt Lake City on Nov. 1st. After about a year's residence in Utah he moved to Nevada and came to Safford from there, arriving here Dec. 20th, 1875. He pitched his tent where Mr. Tuttle's orchard now is, that being the first improvement made in Safford. Only two men are now in Safford who were here when Mr. Frye arrived. The are Harry Gray and David M. Roberts. In 1876 he built a road and established the first saw-mill in the Graham mountains and sawed and brought to the valley the first lumber. His first saw mill was operated by horse power but in 1878 he brought in a small upright engine with which it was operated for some time. The old engine now stands on the lot near Blackmore's livery stable. Mr. Frye leaves but one child, Lambert Frye, although he had two daughters but both died quite young. He has one brother in California, all the balance of his relatives residing in the New England states.

FOLLETT, ROZILLA

After an illness of four months, Mrs. Zilla Follett passed away at her home in Pima, Sunday, July 23, 1916. Mrs. Follett was born in Provo City, Utah. It was in that city that she met I. A. Follett and afterward became his bride, the marriage taking place in the Temple at Sal Lake city, July 5, 1875. They lived in Provo for two years and in 1877 they moved to Arizona settling in Pima, where they have since lived. Mrs. Follet was the mother of six children, five of whom are living and four are married. Mrs. Follett was loved and respected by all who knew her. She was a kind and loving wife and mother. For years she was a teacher in the Pima Relief Society and always did her duty when her health permitted. The funeral services were held in Pima church, Tuesday. Her children and grandchildren were present, together with a large assemblage of friends and relatives. The Pima choir rendered many beautiful hymns, among which was Mrs. Follett's favorite, "Sometime, We'll Understand." Bishop Phil C.

Merrill, John W. Mattice, Frank McBride and Joseph H. Lines ere the speakers. They all told of the beautiful character of the deceased. The interment was made in the Pima cemetery

FOSTER, HERMAN KYLE

Popular Young Fireman Passes Away, Monday, February 20, 1917

Herman Kyle Foster, aged 26 years died at his home, corner of Second South and Second east streets, Monday February 19, 1917, from Bright's disease.

Funeral services were held at the home Tuesday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. F. L. Glisson, Paster of the First Methodist Church, Officiating.

The Services were attended by a large number of friends and the Safford Volunteer Fire Department, of which Herman had been a member since its organization.

The interment was made in Union cemetery, the remains being carried to the grave in the Fire Department truck. Rev. F. L. Glisson conducted short services at the grave.

Herman Kyle foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Foster, was born at Martin, Texas, September 25, 1891. He came with his parents to Safford, February 7, 1908, and attended the Safford School, graduating from the eighth grade with high honors.

Herman was one of the most popular young men of our town. When the Safford Volunteer Fire Department was organized several years ago, Herman was one of the first to join and was recognized as one of the departments most enthusiastic members, always ready to do his duty and working hard and faithful at all times for the success of the organization, even when attacked by sickness which eventually caused his death, and was always in the first rank to answer the alarm.

Herman was a lovable character, true as steel to his friends and a loving son and brother.

FULLER, VELMA

BURNED TO DEATH. Mrs. Velma Fuller Succumbs to Injuries Received in Gasoline Explosion. Mrs. Velma Fulller, aged 20 years, wife of Francis Fuller, was fatally burned at her home in Eden, Saturday, about noon, through the explosion of gasoline used in a gasoline iron. She lived eight hours, dying about 8:00 o'clock in the evening. According to information received here, Mrs. Fuller was cleaning and pressing clothes with a gasoline iron. When the iron ran out of fuel, Mr. Fuller filled it with gasoline from a bottle and set the bottle on the table. When he lighted the match to ignite the gasoline in the generator of the iron, some gasoline that had been spilled, ignited and the flames running to the bottle, the bottle exploded, throwing the burning fluid over Mrs. Fuller, setting her clothing on fire, she became frightened and ran out of the house and before her husband could get to her, her clothing was entirely burned from her body, which was badly burned. She was taken to her mother's home and Dr. Platt was hastily summoned. When the doctor arrived he found there was no hope for her recovery. She lingered until 8:00 o'clock suffering intense agony, when she died. She is survived by her husband and a three-year-old son by a former marriage. The funeral services were held at Eden church Monday afternoon, at 2:00 o'clock. The church was crowded, about 400 people being present. The speakers were: Lon Hancock and Senator D. H. Claridge. The Eden choir furnished the music. The interment was made in the Eden cemetery.

FULWOOD, JOSEPHINE

Young Bride's Sad Death. A happy romance of six weeks of wedded life was shattered Tuesday, September 14th, when Mrs. Teddy Fulwood died at the county hospital of an acute attack of diabetes, while her husband wandered through the outlying districts of Globe, in an apparently demented condition. Fulwood was married just six weeks ago to Miss Josephine Gibbs, of Safford. The bride's parents live about six miles from Safford, and about a week ago she left to visit them. While at the ranch she contracted a severe cold. With it came a return of an attack of diabetes from which she had suffered some time before. When she returned to Globe Saturday night, her condition was so serious that she could not walk to her home. Fulwood's father sat up with the young woman during the early part of the night. At about midnight, he called upon Teddy to take up the vigil. When he went to the room shortly after daybreak Sunday morning, the young man had disappeared. Mrs. Fulwood was taken to the county hospital, where, in a private ward, she received the best of care. Medical aid was unavailing, however, and she died at 3:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Fulwood was found in a demented condition near Roosevelt Wednesday afternoon and was brought to Globe Thursday.
